Housekeeping Notices

Face masks have been proven to help protect everyone from contracting COVID and the wearing of masks will be an ongoing requirement for the unforeseeable future.

There are many instances when residents are in public areas either not wearing a mask or not wearing it correctly.

The mask must cover your nose and mouth at all times.

Naturally you may remove your mask to eat or drink in any of the public areas, once you have finished doing so, your mask must be replaced. Please do not continue to be in any public area without your mask being worn and worn correctly.

If any Hester Canterbury resident can recommend a carpenter or cabinet Maker, the residents of Apts 2.03 and 2.04 would be interested to get their contact details please.

Our Christmas in July Dinner will now be held on Thursday, August 26 (hope you are enjoying the lack of logic in that phrase!) A new sign up sheet is available at the reception desk.

The Hester Canterbury Newsletter is uploaded on the Hester website under 'news'.

Some further insights into something we all pretty well take for granted (well until last week.....)

Why do we call it a "loo"? This word is derived from the French phrase "gardez l'eau", which means "watch out for the water".

This phrase was called out by medieval people before emptying their chamber pots out of their bedroom windows.

King George the Second was king of Great Britain and Ireland from 1727 until he died on the lavatory in 1760. Overweight and blind in one eye the king went to the bathroom after drinking a mug of hot chocolate. Moments later a loud crash was heard and the king was found dead, apparently due to an aortic aneurysm.

The oldest toilet is still functioning about 4000 years after it was first built. It is located at Knossos on the Greek island of Crete.

The Scot Paper Company was the first to manufacture toilet paper on a roll in 1890. Originally toilet brushes were manufactured with the same machinery used to manufacture fake Christmas trees.
